Buckingham Palace... ...End of the Road

Eden Holds Back Tears On His Loneliest Journey

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden took one of the loneliest journeys of his life Wednesday night—that mile-long strip of asphalt road between 10 Downing Street and Buckingham Palace.

Illuminated by gas street lamps from the Victorian era, this lonesome stretch of road in the heart of a huge city bears the odd name of Birdcage Walk.

Eden made the trip slumped in the back seat of a government automobile, a shiny silk hat resting shakily on his knees.

Only a handful of people, most of whom were unaware that Eden was resigning as prime minister, gathered at each end of his journey.

Eden's last ride as prime minister began at a few minutes past 6.

A knot of photographers, reporters and bobbies stood in front of the old oak door at No. 10, two more gas lights casting long slanting shadows in the night.

Suddenly the door opened—and out came Eden.

He raised a limp hand and stepped into his car. He put his hat on his knees and, looking like a man holding back tears, spoke a soft order to his chauffeur.

Off they went. There were no shouts, no cries—only the silence of about 50 people.

The prime minister's car swung slowly past the cenotaph, that granite monument to the war dead. Simon, one of Eden's two sons, was killed in the Second World War.

Up past the cenotaph Eden's automobile moved past the foreign office, scene of Eden's greatest triumphs.

Then it started down Birdcage Walk, a long, straight road, each side lined by gaunt, sentinel-like trees, their limbs leafless in the January night.

Halfway down the road Eden's car passed the ruins of the Guards' Chapel, all but destroyed by a flying bomb that killed scores of worshippers in the last days of the war.

No more than 25 people stood at the east gate of Buckingham Palace as Eden went in. Again there was silence. Soon it was all over. Eden had seen the Queen.

At one minute past 7 Eden's car rumbled out of the gravel courtyard of the palace. A sentry presented arms at the west gate.

Eden, his silk hat still on his knees, smiled faintly as his car turned up Constitution Hill and the road to Chequers, the country home of prime ministers.

The chauffeur stepped on the gas. Eden's car zoomed past the few drivers who had enough gasoline coupons to be on the road. A few moments more and the automobile was rolling toward the shadows of the countryside.

Back at 10 Downing Street the small crowd had swelled outside the doors of the prime minister's town residence. Inside the grimy old house was one of the men—or so it was thought—who would become Britain's next prime minister.

By this time the clock showed 7.15.

The door opened at 11 Downing Street, residence of the chancellor of the exchequer, Harold Macmillan, one of the men mentioned as the successor to Eden.

Out popped the hatless head of Lady Dorothy Macmillan, wife of the chancellor and daughter of the ninth Duke of Devonshire.

Then followed one of those homey moments that leaves the making of drama.

"Where is he?" asked Macmillan's wife of a chauffeur standing on the sidewalk.

"Inside, me lady," said the driver, nodding at No. 10.

"Well," said Lady Dorothy, "if he doesn't look out he's going to be late for dinner."

But what of R. A. Butler, lord privy seal, and heavily tipped to succeed Eden.

"Aw," said a bobbie, "'e's gone home. Nipped out the back door, 'e did."

Front page headlines around the world today tell of the resignation of Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden. A cross section of headlines from today's London newspapers shows sympathy for Eden's "tragedy" and speculation on his successor. "Rab" (Lord Privy Seal Richard A. Butler) and "Mac" (Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold Macmillan) are featured as obvious choices, but appointment of a "third man" is not ruled out.—(AP Photofax.)

Milk Cost to Rise To Meet Pay Hike

Drivers Debate Skip-Day Runs

By DAVID FRANCIS

Wage demands of 200 truck drivers and plant employees of three Victoria dairies will precipitate a milk price increase of one or two cents a quart here, it was indicated yesterday.

Members of the Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees' Union, Local 464, meet at 8 p.m. Sunday at Victoria Labor Council headquarters, 613 Pandora, to decide on contract proposals.

The drivers, said Charles Lewis, chairman of the Victoria sub-local, are undecided whether to ask for a large pay increase and institution of the skip-a-day delivery plan, or demand a smaller pay boost and retain the existing six-day delivery schedule.

EXAMPLE CITED

Vancouver's 1,200 milk distributor employees last month signed an agreement which provided for the skip-a-day delivery plan and a $30 a month wage boost—$15 of this retroactive to March 1, 1956.

The distributors immediately increased their milk price by two cents a quart, making it 24 cents—Victoria's current price.

If the Victoria sub-local decides on the skip-a-day delivery plan, it will ask for the same wage boost as Vancouver workers received, said Mr. Lewis. This would give drivers a guaranteed $300 a month, with commissions on top of that.

If, however, the union votes for keeping the present delivery system, the wage boost asked will be less, although how much less has not been decided, Mr. Lewis continued.

The skip-a-day delivery plan, the union leader said, means a saving of about 16 per cent for the distributor in the number of drivers he must employ. Drivers deliver milk to a house once every two days, thus increasing their loads per trip.

Some of the drivers object to the plan because it means working about three Sundays a month and learning two routes, Mr. Lewis said.

If the plan was agreed to here by the distributors, it would require about four months to come into force. Distributors would reduce the number of drivers during this period by natural staff turnover rather than by a layoff, he said.

Mr. Lewis said demands will be submitted to the distributors "as soon as possible" after Sunday's meeting.

Distributors affected are Palm Dairies Ltd., Northwestern Creamery Ltd., and Island Farms Dairies Co-operative Association.

Power

About Turn Due?

OTTAWA (CP)—One of the most explosive issues in the Gordon commission report likely will be a proposal that Canada boost her exports of vital hydro power to help balance a heavy deficit in United States trade.

Informants said this proposal, based on the conclusion that Canada will have large exportable surpluses especially in British Columbia in the years ahead, will be incorporated in the 140-page preliminary report on Canada's economic prospects to be made public by Prime Minister St. Laurent at about 5 p.m. EST today.

BLOCK B.C. PLAN

The suggestion is said to have already caused a lot of cabinet controversy since it would mean an almost complete reversal of present policy—that is, to restrict exports and conserve hydro power for Canadian use.

Last year the federal government blocked a B.C. government-approved plan to have U.S. interests build a $250,000,000 dam at Mica Creek where it joins the Columbia River 80 miles north of Revelstoke. This dam would be the key to all development on the Columbia, fourth largest river system in North America.

Macmillan Mooted... ...Dark Horse, Too

Butler Favored to Take Over

(From CP Reports)

LONDON—Robert A. (Rab) Butler and Harold Macmillan emerged today as top contenders for the prime minister's chair in the House of Commons.

The successor to Sir Anthony Eden, who resigned Wednesday because of poor health, is expected to take office today.

The 59-year-old statesman stepped down with the "utmost regret" after 21 months as Sir Winston Churchill's successor.

Butler, 54, government leader in Commons, and the younger of the contenders, is considered the favorite for the post.

There is some feeling that Macmillan, chancellor of the exchequer, is still in the running. He is 62.

There also was a chance that a dark horse might emerge for the job. Among those mentioned in this category was Duncan Sandys, Sir Winston Churchill's son-in-law.

Eden's doctors in a statement said he has symptoms which recall the serious abdominal operations he underwent in 1953, and "in our opinion his health will no longer enable him to sustain the heavy burdens inseparable from the office of prime minister."

Eden said a formal farewell to his ministers Wednesday night at a cabinet meeting and then went to Buckingham Palace to hand his resignation to the Queen.

For other stories on Eden resignation see page 3

After the palace visit, Eden issued this statement:

"When I returned to this country a month ago from my Jamaica trip I hoped that my health had been sufficiently restored to enable me to carry out my duties effectively for some considerable time. That hope has not been realized.

"I do not feel that it is right for me to continue in office as the Queen's first minister knowing that I shall be unable to do my full duty by my sovereign and the country.

"I therefore decided with the utmost regret that I must tender my resignation to the Queen which Her Majesty has been graciously pleased to accept."

Eden and his wife left Downing Street for their country residence, Chequers, in Buckinghamshire after Wednesday night's announcement.

It was learned there are no plans for him to enter a hospital.

Tory Blast:

'Leadership Is Lacking'

OTTAWA (BUP) — Conservative Opposition leader John Diefenbaker yesterday blasted the government's indifference, ihertia and lack of leadership in national and international problems.

Moving a non-confidence motion in the new session of parliament, the new leader hammered at the government's handling of the railway strike and the trade problems created for Canada by U.S. surplus-disposal policies.

The government, he said, was following a course of "procrastination, postponements, and promises that something will turn up. . ."

Prime Minister St. Laurent answered that the booming Canadian economy had not suffered seriously. Liberal backbenchers heckled Diefenbaker's demand for a government statement of railway strike policy with a chorus of "What's your policy?"

'Compulsion Premature' In Rail Strike

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Wednesday he thinks it would be premature now to use compulsion to end the CPR tieup resulting from its firemen's strike.

Pity He Can't Shoot

Princess Lends Hand

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret is helping Billy Wallace—last remaining bachelor of her original set—decorate his new town house.

"She's not decorating his house for him," said a friend. "Princesses don't, you know, but she's giving him some advice."

Wallace, lanky 28-year-old man-about-town, is known in the West End as "old faithful" because of his devotion to the princess.

One by one, the eligible young men who made up the male side of the little group of young people known as Princess Margaret's set, got married.

Not Billy Wallace. He stayed a bachelor and a faithful escort of the princess. When she was on the rebound from her broken romance with Group Capt. Peter Townsend, one of her first dates was with Old Faithful.

Now, it's being whispered that Billy is fixing up his house for a bride.

"Me married?" said Wallace when questioned at his office, "well, if that day ever comes, the news will come from the girl, not me."

Billy is assistant to the manager of an airline that flies automobiles and their drivers to and from the Continent. He works steadily, but his associates say he needs a job about as much as London needs a new fog.

He's Eton and Oxford and has all the attributes of a perfect princely escort—except he does not shoot very well.

"Billy," said a friend, "has never hit a bird, beast or beater."

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

ARTHUR ASH'S amalgamation call is one of the few courageous statements in municipal politics this generation.

Mr. Ash is a Liberal, and I believe it would be a disaster if the Liberal Party were elected in power [illegible] other term.

Regardless of his provincial or national politics, however, Mr. Ash says something that no other member of a municipal council has dared to say as long as I can remember: that Victoria should be united.

Saanich, Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Victoria are all one piece, whether we like it or not. Some of the districts stand to lose by immediate union, but all will gain in the long run.

So many municipal politicians, for fear of losing their little stipend or their little prestige, have not voiced an opinion on joining together the municipalities and the city.

They were so afraid, in fact, that they even voted against studying the question.

Tedious Bumbling

Meetings of municipal councils are mostly taken up with tedious bumbling about rezoning property for chicken houses, or quarreling about the responsibility for drainage water.

But Mr. Ash has dared to suggest that Victoria and Saanich—inner Saanich at least—should amalgamate. Doubtless he will stir the anger of the same fusty people who voted against an air field at Gordon Head, and their predecessors who were incensed at the notion of paved roads, in case the automobiles should frighten the horses.

It has been pointed out that he is retiring anyway, and need not court the favor of the voters. I haven't spoken to Mr. Ash lately. He probably feels, however, that if the voters are so stupid and narrow that they refuse to even examine the matter of amalgamation with an open mind, they are not worth considering.

Union Explains

Strike Chief 'Not American'

The press has wronged W. L. Druce, Canadian vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, by referring to him as an American from Portland who is masterminding the West Coast end of the week-old CPR firemen's strike.

This was stated in a release signed by Jack MacKenzie, as president, on behalf of the Victoria Labor Council.

The erroneous statements, he said, have left the unsavory impression that the strike is being run on all levels from the U.S., and has given Canadian unions a "black eye."

Mr. Druce, he pointed out, is a Canadian citizen who has never lived in the United States. He was born in New Zealand and has lived in Canada for more than 40 years, and his home is in Vancouver.

RARE MOVE

Since the brotherhood was founded 83 years ago, he said, the current strike is the first stoppage by the organization "within the memory of the oldest members now living."

Mr. MacKenzie stated the brotherhood's case by asking the public among other things:

"How many people know that every peaceable avenue of negotiation was exhausted — a procedure which took 11 months — before the strike was called?

"How many people know that members of the brotherhood stand ready to operate food trains on the CPR to communities isolated by the shutdown?

"How many people know it was by decision of the CPR management that all trains are in enforced idleness?

"How many people know that the CPR is the only major railroad on this continent which is demanding the right to eliminate firemen aboard diesel locomotives?

"How many people know that Canadian National withdrew such a demand, as did all 140 major railroads in the U.S.?

Garden Notes

Potted Plants —Go Get Them

By M. V. CHESTNUT, FRHS.

If Santa Claus failed to bring you any potted flowering plants for Christmas, and if you don't have any potted bulb flowers coming into bloom yet, there is still no need to get along without the charm of live flowers in the home. A careful search around the garden will be almost sure to reveal a few odd subjects which can be lifted and brought into the house to provide color.

Among the crocuses, snowdrops and snowflakes, you can nearly always find a few precocious specimens which are in bud and on the point of blooming. These may be lifted carefully with a hand trowel, set into a shallow pottery bowl, and the surface covered with fresh, green forest moss to provide a beautiful and interesting conversation piece for the dinner table. After they have served their purpose, it is an easy matter to return them to their proper place in the garden.

ANOTHER CHARMER

Primula "Wanda" is another little charmer which lends itself to this sort of treatment, and doesn't seem to suffer the least harm from being brought indoors for a week or 10 days during the flowering period. The only thing you have to watch with "Wanda" is to make sure your friends view her by natural daylight. Under the yellow rays of artificial light, the lovely deep color of the petals turns to a muddy magenta shard.

Chionodoxa or "Glory of the Snow" is another flower which suffers when viewed under artificial light. In daylight, these little bulb flowers are of the purest gentian blue, but when the electric lights come on, the clear blue disappears and becomes a dirty purple shade.

SQUARE OF PERIWINKLE

Ever try cutting out a square of Periwinkle—Vinca minor—with a sharp spade and bringing it indoors in a bowl or ornamental shallow dish? In the warmth of the living-room, this subject will burst into bloom within a week or less and provides a welcome breath of spring in the darkest days of winter.

Lily of the Valley can be forced indoors, too. In this case, though, a clump should be lifted and left on the surface of the soil outdoors for a week or so to become thoroughly frosted. Like rhubarb, this subject needs a bit of frost to stimulate it to best performance.

SHAKE OUT ROOTS

After the cold treatment, bring the clump indoors to thaw out, then shake out the roots, selecting the plumpest pips for potting up in a flower pot filled with rich, sandy soil. Crowd them in the pot—you need lots of the plants to make a good showing — give them a good watering, and stand them on the basement floor until the topgrowth shows through. From then on, let them take up residence on a sunny windowsill, to bloom and perfume the room with their delicate scent.

Docks Piled High

Cargo Congestion Alarms Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Port facilities here were reported Wednesday to be buckling under the strain of congested cargo caused by the week-old CPR firemen's strike.

About 60 per cent of the port's cargo landing facilities are served by the strike-blocked CPR and these docks are being piled high with freight destined for overland CPR points.

"If the strike lasts through next week," said one port official, "we may have to order the goods removed and placed in private storage. That would be a last resort."

* * *

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor leaders met Wednesday night with Prime Minister St. Laurent on the CPR tieup after the prime minister had a conference with CPR President N. R. Crump.

The prime minister later expressed optimism over a settlement of the seven-day rail stoppage without government compulsion, but there were no indications of an immediate get-together between the long deadlocked company and firemen's union.

Earlier, Mr. St. Laurent indicated in the Commons that the government is not at the moment planning the use of compulsion upon the disputants to get the trains rolling, as it did during the general rail strike of 1950 on all the major railways.

"I think it is still just a little bit premature to resort to compulsory measures," he told the House, "and I hope we will not have to resort to them at all."

* * *

TRAIL (CP)—Operations at the huge zinc and lead smelter of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. will begin its shutdown today, due to the firemen's strike which has cut off shipment of ore concentrates to the plant.

More than 3,000 employees are expected to be laid off in the next few days if the strike continues, said R. D. Perry, general manager.

* * *

VANCOUVER (CP)—A union official said here Wednesday that only the "cool-headed" action of a small group of labor leaders averted what was building up as a "general extension" of the strike.

The official, who preferred to remain anonymous, said an element of other labor groups was prepared to support pickets patrolling the CPR docks "regardless of cost."

He said the dispute could easily have snowballed into a general strike.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Grain deliveries at the lakehead from Western Canada have dropped about 1,000,000 bushels a day since the Canadian Pacific strike began Jan. 4.

B.C. Appeals Rate Ruling

Provincial authorities have launched an appeal against the Board of Transport Commissioners' rejection of an application by B.C. for a reduction of domestic grain rates from the Prairies to B.C.

Agriculture Minister Ralph Chetwynd said yesterday that C. W. Brazier, provincial freight rate counsel, had been instructed to appeal the board's order.

B.C. had asked the board that the freight rates on domestic grain be reduced from the rate of 60 cents per 100 pounds to the export rate of 20 cents per 100 pounds between Calgary and Vancouver.

U.K. Press Mirrors Mixed Views on Eden

LONDON (Reuters) — Sampling of the mixed British press reaction to the resignation Wednesday of Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden:

THE TIMES — "The swiftness and finality of his decision makes this latest act in his career one [illegible] of the many great services he has done the nation in a lifetime of public service. If the party can now pull itself together under a new prime minister it has an opportunity to recover from the recent debacle."

THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN — "While he remained at Downing Street there could be no hope of making good the damage. . . . There is no point in mincing words about it. His policy has brought Britain into its worst predicament since 1940. . . . A change of prime minister was the first requirement for national recovery."

THE DAILY SKETCH—"Let us be quite blunt about this matter. Ever since Suez the American government has adopted an attitude of frosty and self-righteous disapproval of Eden. . ... The inference seems to be that so long as Eden remained prime minister, Britain would be regarded in Washington as an unregenerate bad boy."

THE DAILY TELEGRAPH — "We have not changed our prime minister at the bidding of the Americans. Indeed, it is even possible that Sir Anthony might have resigned earlier but for the indirect support accorded to him by widespread [illegible] the American attitude."

THE DAILY HERALD—"Sir Anthony goes in the midst of the crisis into which the Suez adventure has plunged us."

THE DAILY MAIL—". . . many a man who has been justified by posterity has been dispraised in his own day. . . . Yet this must be said too: had his plans succeeded, his health perhaps would not have failed, or if it had his recovery would have been assured. . . ."

THE DAILY MIRROR—"It took him 32 years to become prime minister. In less than two years the fruits of all his endeavors have turned to ashes. . . . Today Sir Anthony Eden is the loneliest man in the world."

THE NEWS CHRONICLE—". . . the scars of Suez have eaten so deeply into the life of the nation that a change of leadership had become essential . ."

Catholics Win U.K. Converts

LONDON (BUP) — Conversions to Roman Catholicism in England and Wales in 1956 broke a 120-year-old record.

Totalling 13,291, they exceeded those for 1955 by 1,371, bringing the full Catholic population to 3,270,800.

The figures released by Catholic Directory, the year book of the Roman Catholic Church in England.

Crisis After Crisis Killed Eden's Hopes

LONDON (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden spent a lifetime training to become prime minister, grasped the glittering prize 21 months ago and then saw it slowly slip from his hands.

The one-time golden boy of British politics went from crisis to crisis at home and abroad as soon as he became prime minister.

Even Eden's political enemies conceded that few British leaders have played in harder luck. He was the big loser in the abortive British-French military intervention in Egypt.

A national newspaper strike was in progress when Eden attained the highest political office in the land on April 6, 1955.

He called a general election the following month and the Conservative party was returned to office with increased strength in the House of Commons.

TRIUMPH MARRED

But even this triumph was marred. Three days before the election thousands of dock workers went on strike. Before the new Parliament had time to meet, labor troubles on the nationalized railways caused Eden to declare a state of emergency.

Through the last half of 1955 criticism mounted against the administrative policies of Eden's government at home. There was concern because Britain had to struggle so hard to keep the pound looking the dollar in the face.

Some newspapers, including a few who support Eden's Conservative party, accused the cabinet of uncertainty, indecisiveness and timidity. Eden himself was described as a "ditherer."

Then, as the months rolled along, Eden found himself involved deeper in the troubles of the Middle East.

MORE TROUBLES

In the months of negotiations among the world's maritime powers and with the Egyptians, Eden often worked 20 hours a day.

British and French troops invaded Egypt Nov. 5, and Eden's troubles piled higher. From the United States came word that for "law—not war." United Nations condemnation strengthened Eden's critics.

Under the mounting pressures at home and abroad, Eden ordered a cease-fire and later the evacuation of the forces which President Eisenhower had not been consulted about the attack and felt it was wrong.

At home the opposition Labor party hammered at Eden. Demonstrations of trade unionists called had occupied the northern end of the canal.

Harried and tired Eden was told by his doctors on Nov. 22 that he was suffering from overwork and strain and was advised to rest. He went to Jamaica for three weeks while his lieutenants wound up the Suez affair.

U.S. TURNDOWN

When he came back home he found Britain and Western Europe suffering from an oil shortage and a slim economic diet as an aftermath of the closing of the Suez Canal.

He let it be known he would welcome an opportunity to talk things over with President Eisenhower but there was no White House invitation.

Eden first entered Parliament in 1923, became foreign secretary in 1935. He was 38 at the time, the youngest man to hold that post in nearly a century.

Gaitskell Eager to Fill Sir Anthony's Shoes

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP) — British Labor Party leader Hugh Gaitskell last night called for an immediate general election in England.

Gaitskell, at Harvard to deliver a series of lectures, said he thought his party would have "a very good chance" to form a new government "if given the opportunity."

"There appears to be a swinging back to our party," he said.

Gaitskell said he was "sorry" to hear of Eden's ill health but said he did "the right thing" in resigning.

Royal Prerogative

Queen Has Right To Own Choice

LONDON (Reuters)—It is the Queen's prerogative to choose the new prime minister when that post becomes vacant.

In selecting the new prime minister, she is also in effect choosing a party leader.

This is one of the few remaining occasions when the sovereign can exercise considerable influence.

The usual procedure when a prime minister resigns is for him to go to Buckingham Palace to tender his resignation.

The Queen then thanks him for his services and asks him to remain in office until she has chosen a successor.

Constitutionally, she is not obliged to ask the outgoing minister what his own choice would be, but by tradition the sovereign almost always does.

Within hours of receiving the prime minister's resignation, his successor is likely to be summoned by the Queen to form a government.

It is customary for the resigning minister to inform his party of his intention to resign. And it is unlikely that anyone would accept the Queen's invitation to form a government unless he were privately assured of support from his party. If he felt he did not have this support, he would advise the Queen to summon someone else.

The Eden Resignation

THE political system of Great Britain is sensitive to the climate of opinion; it reacts quickly to developments and conditions. No minister of the Crown hangs on to office when confidence in his capabilities is impaired or his policies challenged beyond the norm. It is this pliable response that makes British practice the most adaptable of all the democratic processes. It is also the reason for yesterday's resignation of Sir Anthony Eden as prime minister of his country.

Several factors have conspired to bring Sir Anthony down. The immediate cause is the Suez intervention, whose ill-effects have boomeranged sharply on British economy. The Eden Middle East policy may well be sustained by history—already opinion even in the United States is beginning to acknowledge this—but meantime its sponsor must bear the brunt of the present disastrous result on British fortunes.

Sir Anthony Eden has been beset on all sides: by an opposition which saw a chance to replace the government and seized the opportunity with partisan glee; by lack of harmony in his own party and a vociferous component of dissidents; by the open displeasure of the Eisenhower administration which perhaps precluded his continuance in office if the British-American liaison was to be fully restored; by the state of his own personal health. There can be no doubt that since his serious illness a few years ago Sir Anthony Eden has been sapped of much of his former resilience and strength.

In succeeding Sir Winston Churchill 21 months ago he also took on an almost impossible task. Sir Winston was too big a man to be confounded by his opponents, whether in other lands or his own; his greatness was overwhelming. Any successor would have found his light dimmed by the lingering prestige of the world's most renowned statesman. Once freed of the Churchillian presence even an upstart like Colonel Nasser felt at liberty to show his teeth. In falling heir to the mantle of Sir Winston his chief lieutenant became the target of accumulated forces and events.

His brief premiership coincided with many difficult problems, and perhaps he lacked the weight to dominate them. Yet many people in Great Britain, and throughout the Commonwealth, will regret deeply that so fine a public career should close in somewhat summary eclipse. Sir Winston Churchill called him the "one shining figure" to emerge in the aftermath of the first war, and his personal integrity of character and proved devotion to the cause of peace and democracy made him widely respected everywhere. Over three decades his services to the British cause were outstanding.

It is the British way that a political leader should resign, however, if he feels that the temper of the time makes this desirable, and undoubtedly Sir Anthony Eden has bowed to a tradition which he has demonstrated before that he upholds. It is a measure of the man in fact that by his resignation he puts what he conceives to be his country's interests before his own.

'Scramble' Lights Are the Answer

MAYOR SCURRAH'S recommendation that "scramble" lights be installed at some of the busiest intersections in the centre of town should be acted on this year if available funds can be stretched to cover the fairly considerable expense. Signals of that type, widely used with great success in Vancouver, offer the only visible cure for the delays and congestion which occur when vehicles and pedestrians all try to use the intersections at the same time.

Under the present system of traffic lights the motorist is always the loser in this contest. During most of the day, and at rush hours especially, it is almost impossible to make turns to the right whether the signal is red or green. Either way the driver is opposed by a stream of pedestrians. He is in trouble with the law if he challenges their prior right to the crossing, and unable to move if he doesn't. On narrow streets one car waiting for a chance to turn right may tie up a dozen or more behind him. Pedestrians are peculiarly unco-operative in these situations.

Scramble lights permit the free flow of pedestrian and vehicle traffic alternately and are of equal advantage to both. Pedestrians can proceed without having to watch for cars, and can reach a corner diagonally opposite in half the time by crossing the street only once instead of twice. Vehicles whether moving straight ahead or turning right can proceed without stopping, which means that where right turns are involved the intersections can be cleared in a fraction of the time now taken.

Proof of the effectiveness of scramble lights is contained in the fact that Vancouver, which began with only one or two several years ago, now uses them almost exclusively in the downtown section. Traffic volume has reached a point in Victoria where nothing else will do the job satisfactorily.

A Business Tax

THERE are two sides to the imposition of a business tax in a municipal area. Alderman Donald Smith's impatience to fasten one on Victoria so far has been more precipitate than wise. To begin with, business is heavily taxed. Federally it pays corporation income and old-age security levies up to 47 per cent of its profits. On top of that there are the federal and provincial sales taxes. For many businesses there are also excise and customs duties, where imports are involved. In the municipal field, owners of business premises pay land and improvement taxes, water rates, frontage levies, the machinery tax and whatever else may be collectable from such occupation and use.

Nor is that all. For many years Victoria businesses voluntarily contributed a stepped-up share to the City's trades licence system on the express understanding that this revenue would be used to maintain the annual grant to the publicity bureau, in which not all of them had the same interest. Need for revision of trade licence fees there may well be, with the change in times and considerable influx of settlement into this region. But to infer that "a business tax" would be easy pickings as a new source of municipal revenue without any concomitant drawback in exchange is to look at one side of the picture only. It has two, and acutely so in those communities which, like Victoria, are seeking to retain their present business volume and where possible to enlarge it.

The city council is on sound ground in refusing to be stampeded into any action which, taken in a hurry, might be regretted later; and expressly so if there is any suggestion that the provincial government intends altering the Municipal Act in this regard at the forthcoming session. A revision of trades licence fees would be understandable. Any attempt to "soak" businesses because they have a Victoria office would not.

Interpreting the News

NATO Proposals Followed

By EARL H. VOSS

North American Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON—The first stage of a significant transformation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is now under way.

It has gone largely unreported on this side of the Atlantic, probably because attention here has been centred on Hungary and Egypt. As a result of decisions taken by NATO's council of ministers in Paris last month:

Policy-making bodies in the state department, and presumably in other foreign offices of the NATO powers, are now planning new procedures for discussing their policies with NATO allies "collectively, in the early stages of policy formation, and before national positions become fixed." This has seldom been done in the past, and was not considered practical by many statesmen.

The NATO secretary-general's position has been greatly enhanced. His new authority includes the right to try to settle disputes among members.

The incoming secretary-general, former Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak, could become a figure at least as important as United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold in international affairs if the recommendations of a special NATO committee are followed.

A NATO-sponsored program for disseminating anti-Communist propaganda world-wide has been launched. If implemented, it could greatly increase the impact of anti-Communist propaganda throughout the world. The United States suggests raising the combined cultural-information budget of NATO from $300,000 to $1,000,000.

European governments are being stimulated to increase exchanges of military personnel, in an effort to encourage standardization and break down language and other barriers now plaguing NATO forces.

A NATO science council is being set up to help scientists exchange views and discoveries quickly. The science exchange program could become the basis for a pooling of military and economic information which could greatly increase the security of all members of the alliance.

These actions flow from approval by the NATO foreign ministers of recommendations of a committee commissioned last May to seek new ways of expanding political and economic co-operation among NATO members.

The committee of three consisted of Gaetano Martino, foreign minister of Italy; Halvard Lange, foreign minister of Norway, and Lester B. Pearson, secretary of state for external affairs of Canada.

Thinking Aloud

Gerald Waring

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

IN A discussion of two soldier-author books, one on Bataan and the other on Korea, a Time magazine reviewer says the truth of both is that "America is blessed in her fighting men."

The same can be said of most countries. Some troops are doubtless better than others but few ever let their country down. Final defeat is not to be laid to them.

In his reminiscences Sir Adrian de Wiart, a one-eyed VC general, gives the accolade to New Zealanders and Highlanders as the best combat soldiers; John Buchan thought the palm belonged to the English county regiments.

Yours truly would be content to have Canadian troops alongside him in any tight corner.

It is all a matter of preference, and national prejudice. Probably there are no better fighting men anywhere than the Germans.

* * *

Naturally, since he is dealing with soldiers of his own country, the Time reviewer is awed by the courage celebrated by the two books in question. Men may be ribald, spout hop talk, read plays between barrages, reveal all sorts of queer human behaviour, but they bear up nobly in battle.

Nor is it a criterion that they may be shaking somewhat at the knees.

Some of them even weep. The Bataan story cites Old Glory being burned before surrender and says: "All the men were crying."

I never saw men cry in battle myself, except one 15-year-old who had no business to be in the firing line, but it was not fear that made these doomed men in Bataan cry; it was deep emotion for their country.

There was a time, remember, when it was quite normal for strong men to cry unashamedly. Only a modern fetish deems a man's tears unmanly.

Yes, countries are blessed in their fighting men.

* * *

I have often thought in fact that in olden times nations were more blessed, certainly better served, by their fighting men than they deserved. History is full of glorious pages, but these were written at the expense of the men who enabled them.

Nowadays the soldier gets a break; he is given every possible amenity to offset the rigors of active service. By comparison with the hardships of troops in older wars he enjoys a picnic.

Soldiers of past, happily now bygone ages, were sometimes referred to as the scum of the earth and treated as if that were the case. Callous disregard of food, clothing and general health problems were appalling by modern standards. Yet their patriotism in the field was noble and inspiring.

They received little but gave all.

True enough many amenities now possible didn't exist long ago, and that bespeaks a mighty difference. But nowadays, thank goodness, a soldier is regarded as a human being, not simply as a body in uniform.

He does not serve his country better, but his country serves him better.

The Time reviewer quotes Pericles, speaking of the ancient Athenians, who "did not weigh too nicely the perils of war."

Today, as 2,000 and more years ago, nations are blessed because that is so.

Reports from Ottawa

IN the railway strike the national political pot has received a new ingredient which could make its contents much less palatable to the Liberals.

Depending on what happens in the next few days, Liberal plans for a June election could be jeopardized. Naturally the Liberals want to go to the country at a politically propitious time. And if repercussions from the strike make June unpropitious, Prime Minister St. Laurent might well put off the election.

So far the PM has admitted only that June is a good month for elections. He didn't say which June—and the government doesn't have to hold a general election before the fall of 1958.

Actually the CPR strike could hardly have come at a more disconcerting time for the government. It's a political hot potato that could materially change the political outlook. Yet the government couldn't await the strike's outcome before preparing the Throne Speech for Tuesday's opening of Parliament.

* * *

Unless the strike ends quickly by agreement between the locomotive firemen and the CPR managment, the government will be faced with a Hobson's choice.

If the government follows the precedent it set in the rail tie-up of 1950 and has Parliament pass a law forcing the strikers to return to work and submit their dispute to compulsory arbitration, it will offend organized labor. But if it maintains a hands-off attitude it will risk serious harm to the national economy, and can count on criticism from Conservative MPs and a large section of the public.

When St. Laurent had Parliament abrogate the strike right of the non-operating rail unions in 1950 the reaction of labor generally was hostile, even bitter. Despite the government's best efforts to explain its action as an isolated emergency step which likely would never be repeated, labor feared that the precedent would undermine labor's hard-won position that workers have an inalienable right to refuse to work.

* * *

The edge of labor's ire wore off before the election in 1953. But if the government acts now to deprive railwaymen for a second time of their right to strike, labor's anger might not subside in the six months before a June election.

In 1950 St. Laurent's expressed view was that the public welfare supersedes labor's private right to strike. If one accepts that principle, then it appears that federal labor laws need amending.

In both strikes the federal conciliation procedures were ineffective. The unions fulfilled all provisions of the law before going out. As a result, it may be argued that the law should be amended to provide for compulsory arbitration in key public service industries like transportation and communication.

* * *

If this is the Prime Minister's opinion, I don't think it will be translated into legislation before the election. But the CPR strike will, I suspect, bring nearer the day when the government and Parliament will review federal labor laws to try to evolve new procedures which would prevent strikes which amount to national disasters.

Science and the Aged

By GREGORY CLARK

ON the bus yesterday, at the back end where the seats face each other, I faced three elderly women. They were well-dressed and clutched their purses in characteristic fashion. A more dismal three old ladies you never might see. I think they were coming home from an afternoon downtown movie.

They were made up very tidy and stiff. Their hair had obviously been to the cleaners and dyers quite lately. Its whiteness had a bluish tint.

As representatives of the elder generation they were very creditable, sartorially and cosmetically. But a more bored trio never took an afternoon out together. Maybe the picture they had seen was depressing. At all events, they were fed up to the teeth with one another and with life. They exchanged a few words from time to time; but the way they let their eyes wander over each other, and the petulant expression on their faces expressed a fatigue, an irksomeness that was, after all, comic.

* * *

They were, I judge, between 70 and 80 years of age, so help me. Being between 60 and 70 myself, I glanced down to see if my shoes were shined, and I adjusted my neckerchief which, I am told, even by my best friends, sometimes gets a little lumpy and awry. Then I glanced around the bus to see if there were any other oldsters aboard who could put a little better face upon being old. Part way up the bus was an old man. I could see only his profile. But it had something of the desperation that was so dominant in the faces of the three cared-for old women across from me.

Science has got to do something more for the aged than merely keep them alive. Medical science is very proud of the extension it has added to the life expectancy of recent generations. Privately, I think that what science is really proud of is reducing infant mortality and keeping tens of thousands of babies alive. I imagine it is the people in their teens and twenties and thirties who are not dying in such percentages as formerly that science is so happy about.

This is what they mean by life expectancy, not the continuation of life into old age. For our economy makes no provision in the way of jobs for the aging. True, the entertainment world, with its radio and TV and movies, has offered the old a good deal of easy amusement. The motor industry doesn't care if old folks buy cars or ride in them instead of rocking, as in former times, in rocking chairs.

* * *

What I think science should now do, having kept the old alive, is formulate some pill—not a tranquillizer but a pill that will energize the old and rescue them from petulance, boredom, weariness and ennui; a pill that will do for their insides what the beauty parlors have succeeded in doing for their outsides.

Problems of Tight Money

By PETER BRUTON

DESPITE the extremely rosy overall picture painted by Trade and Industry Minister Earle C. Westwood in his year-end review of business activity in British Columbia, there are obviously quite a few bleak spots in the province's economy. Take residential construction, agriculture and forestry, for instance.

Construction as a whole hit a high of $840,000,00 last year, a gain of 47 per cent over the value of $573,000,000 set the year before. But this huge gain was entirely attributable to large industry construction, while home building hit the doldrums.

Mr. Westwood blames the fall-off in home building on the federal government's credit restrictions.

At the beginning of 1956 the number of starts made on new homes ran above the 1955 level, then began to lag behind, and at the year's close was down about 10 per cent. Completions held their own for most of the year because many starts had been made before the credit situation became acute, but by the end of the year completions began to register considerable decreases from 1955.

And if the so-called "tight money" policy is continued, said the minister, "it can be expected that the dampening effect of credit restrictions will be more widespread, particularly with respect to smaller industrial and commercial enterprises".

* * *

One of the basic segments of British Columbia's economy is agriculture, an industry which has struck hard times in recent years. In his report Mr. Westwood pointed out that cash income from the sale of farm products last year would reach some $109,500,000, an increase of $2,000,000 over 1955.

But farming is plagued by troubles.

Farmers are faced with an acute general labor shortage, a reduction in available family labor because of the attractions offered by other industries, and the continuing squeeze between costs and prices for agricultural commodities.

Many sections of the industry were hit hard last year by severe frost damage, followed by abnormally dry conditions during the spring.

Milk production is expected to be about 3 per cent below that of 1955, and despite increased average producers' prices the dairy cash income is down by some $500,000 from last year. Poultry production barely met the demand during the early part of the year and by the end of 1956 the market was so depressed by United States over-production that prices were below the cost-of-production.

* * *

In the forestry industry production records were once again broken, but a sea of troubles beset the industry as a whole for most of the year.

In 1955 difficulty was experienced in obtaining logs and this situation remained in 1956 due to snow conditions in the coastal region at the beginning of the year and later to the critical forest fire conditions which plagued most parts of British Columbia. Water transportation remained a problem, with increasing rates and prospects for further increases. Higher rail rates also went into effect.

Another difficulty was the premium position of the Canadian dollar, which has its effect on an industry dependent upon foreign markets. Also, the so-called tight money controls which first started in the United Kingdom later went into effect in the United States and Canada, with a resulting drop in exports.

Exports to Great Britain last year were down about 40 per cent, and the Suez crisis is expected to decrease the market for lumber in the United Kingdom still further due to the need for dollars for oil.

Incentive for the pulp and paper industry to build more mills than those under way has been greatly reduced by the apparent surplus product position ahead.

* * *

By using the guage that the construction industry hit a new all-time high, that the farm cash income was up by about $2,000,000, and the lumber cut of the forest industry had broken a new record, Mr. Westwood was technically correct in reporting that 1956 was another boom year, that the economy was still surging ahead by leaps and bounds.

But surely the precarious position of the three industries mentioned above leaves many questions to be answered and should cause people to stop and think just where British Columbia is heading.

It could well be that Premier Bennett hit the nail on the head when he said credit restrictions would lead to widespread unemployment. Nevertheless, in this reporter's opinion, the immediate future of agriculture, forestry and home building is strongly tied to the long-range future of British Columbia as a whole.

Farmers are going out of business because they can't make ends meet, the workers who would fill the factories and office buildings rapidly being built in most parts of the province can't find homes, and thousands of loggers are threatened by the cut in lumber exports.

And unless something is done to correct this situation, British Columbia's boom economy could very easily blow up overnight.

Letters to the Editor

Unfair to Chamber

On page 13 of the Colonist of Sunday, Jan. 6, 1957, it was reported that Ald. J. D. Smith had embodied in his report to city council on the matter of trades licence fees and business tax, the following: "A submission by the Chamber of Commerce was the only negative report received during his investigation."

It was realized that the phrase was contained in Ald. Smith's report and was correctly reported. However, the remarks are incorrect and convey an impression which is quite unfair the Chamber of Commerce and to its members.

So far, no submission either for or against Ald. Smith's proposals has been made, either to the special committee or to city council. While "appearance" was promised by Ald. Smith, this has not yet been afforded.

The only action which could be termed a "submission" were two letters addressed direct to city council. The first suggests that in view of possible amendments to the Municipal Act, it might be wiser to await the passage of this legislation.

The second draws attention to the fact that (1) assurances were given to the chamber committee that opportunity would be afforded to make representations, (2) that to date this had not been provided and (3) requesting such an opportunity for the chamber committee and for individual members after due notice.

A. E. WEBB, Secretary,
Trades Licence and Business Tax Committee,
Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Invitation to Singers

The Victoria Choral Society has been invited by Hans Gruber, conductor of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra, to sing the choral finale of Beethoven's 9th Symphony, at the last pair of subscription concerts on April 7 and 8. It will be remembered that the society last performed this work in April, 1951, and this letter is an invitation to all good singers to join our ranks for this epic work, and also to participate in the performance of Bach's "Passion According to St. John" which will take place later in April.

Rehearsals commence next Tuesday at 7.30 in the Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall. Intending participants should please phone me for audition as soon as possible. Music is supplied.

America's About-Face

In the light of President Eisenhower's present policy, it becomes increasingly clear that the U.S. administration had an ulterior motive in forcing Britain and France out of the Middle East. The reason, of course, the fabulously rich oil fields, in which the Americans already have a large interest. Not content with their present holdings, they are seeking to get a complete stranglehold in that area; and the only way it could be done was by vilifying Britain in the eyes of the Arabs. In addition, Washington is anxious to substitute American for British influence in that vital area.

It is well to remember that Britain and France had certain objectives; to prevent the spread of the Israel-Egyptian conflict; to safeguard the canal as an international waterway for the free passage of ships of all nations; and to prevent further Russian infiltration into the Middle East.

One year prior to the adventure Sir Anthony Eden requested President Eisenhower to formulate a policy—similar to the one for which he is now requesting approval of Congress. But as we all know, Eisenhower and Dulles refused to do anything, failing to see the danger of their do-nothing policy.

When at last Britain and France had to intervene to prevent a world conflict, all they got from the United States was a campaign of vulgar abuse. The action taken by Britain and France was termed "illegal and immoral;" and the Eisenhower-Dulles combination held themselves up as paragons of virtue, protectors of small nations, etc.

What was illegal and immoral only two months before, when Britain and France stood almost alone in defence of freedom, the United States now proposes to also use force, if necessary, whenever he (Eisenhower) deems advisable.

If Eisenhower had agreed to Eden's request one year ago, it would not have been necessary for Britain and France to enter into the Suez campaign, and Russian intervention would have been checked.

Mr. Eisenhower says he will not bypass the UN, but he knows full well that if he requests approval from the Security Council, Russia will veto any such move. Will he then withdraw his troops? Not on your life.

News Pictures Roll In

For years, the news of the world has rolled into the editorial offices of The Daily Colonist by teletype. Last night, a modern miracle of electronics came to Victoria as pictures from across the world began to come in via Associated Press Photofax. Above, Mal Duran of Seattle inspects the roll of pictures that had collected after the first run. The prints come off the automatic machine all ready to be engraved and placed in your morning paper. Seventy to 80 pictures a day will arrive by facsimile on a day-and-night transmission basis. — (Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Paint, Glass

Unions Seek Big Raises

An across-the-board, 42-cent-an-hour wage increase is being asked by more than 250 Victoria painters and glassworkers.

Paperhangers, members of the same union—Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, Local 1163—are bidding for a 52-cent-an-hour increase.

The paperhangers' and painters' demands have been submitted to 45 contractors in the Greater Victoria area.

The glassworkers, 26 of them, have presented separate demands to three glass firms—Canadian Pittsburgh Industries Ltd., O'Neil Glass & Paint Ltd., and Pacific Glass Ltd.

The boost asked by the painters would raise wages for brush painting to $2.61 an hour, paperhanging to $2.71, spray painting to $3.11 and for spray painting erected structural steel or applying bitumastic coatings by spray, $3.36 an hour.

The glassworkers want $2.35 an hour.

The large wage increases asked follow a trend in the construction industry. Carpenters are expected to demand a 72 to 75-cent-an-hour boost soon. Electricians signed a contract recently which will give them $2.99 an hour by October, 1957.

Painters want pay for all statutory holidays. They receive none now. They also want double pay for overtime.

The union is also proposing that apprentices receive half the journeyman's wage as a starting rate.

The glassworkers are asking for 10 cents an hour above the basic rate for men in charge of three or more men.

They are also demanding double pay for overtime; three weeks' holiday with pay after two years' service; and extra pay for working at heights.

Texada Ferry Contract Let

Provincial cabinet yesterday approved the awarding of a contract to Davis Shipping, Ltd., of Nanaimo to operate a ferry service between Texada Island and Westview on the mainland.

The company will receive a $15,000 annual subsidy from the government for the service which runs across Malaspina Strait.

Davis Shipping was the sole tenderer for the job.

Residents Leap to Defence Of Neglected War Memorial

"Battle of the Gore" will be taken up again at a second public hearing on the future of the long-neglected war memorial plot on Shelbourne.

Meeting date will be set by a group of residents interested in preserving the 38-year-old memorial.

First public hearing was held Tuesday night when Saanich council expected to reach a decision on the rezoning application by Imperial Oil, which hopes to erect a service station on a portion of the dedicated property on Shelbourne south of Cedar Hill Crossroad.

An Imperial Oil representative said the firm was unaware of the history of the memorial park.

Interested residents called on A. E. Horner to read to council the program of dedication of which he was chairman on July 19, 1919.

A council member from 1920 through 1922, Mr. Horner described in detail the ceremony, at which a flag was raised and a maple tree was planted by Dr. Simon Fraser Tolmie, later premier of B.C.

"I would be grieved to think that property dedicated in memory of boys from Saanich and Victoria who gave their lives for their country was desecrated in the interest of commercial development," Mr. Horner said.

He added that he had received a supporting letter from Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich.

L. G. Scott, past-president of the Britannia Legion branch, said the Legion would "object very strongly" to any move to encroach on dedicated land.

Coun. J. Ronald Grant said he felt certain a plan could be worked out to the satisfaction of all concerned. He suggested that a park remain, and re-zoning be granted on the condition that the service station keep up the memorial.

Ontario Bars All Under 18 From Movie

TORONTO (BUP)—The Ontario film censorship board announced Wednesday it has cleared the controversial film "Baby Doll" for showing in the province.

However, board director O. J. Silverthorne said, a "restricted" label has been tagged to the movie, which means nobody under the age of 18 can see it, whether accompanied by an adult or not.

The movie will open what is expected to be a long and well-attended run at the end of this month or early in February.

HAROLD J. PARSLEY
... commission chairman

At Parksville

Parsley, Winch Elected

PARKSVILLE — H. J. Parsley has been elected chairman of the Parksville village commission and Eric Winch deputy chairman.

New committees, with first-named as chairman, are: public works, Thomas Bonar, Frank Shortreid; waterworks, Shortreid, Bonar; building subdivisions, A. J. Lock, E. Winch; fire department, sanitation and health, Winch, H. J. Parsley; finance, Parsley.

Frank C. Swallow was appointed auditor for the village and J. F. R. Hickey building inspector.

An effort is being made to find a suitable applicant for the position of dog licence collector and poundkeeper.

Appointed to the recreation commission are Mrs. J. E. Bloom, Mrs. P. Smith, Mrs. R. Clark and George Dodds.

Concussion

Baby Flown To Hospital

Eighteen-month-old Andrea Folker was in fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital last night after having been brought to Victoria on a mercy flight from Tofino.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Folker had suffered concussion in a fall at play in her Tofino home and the family doctor, Dr. H. R. McDiarmid, who flew with her from the West Coast village, described the flight as a "life-or-death" mission.

The mercy flight was originally scheduled for Vancouver, but snow in the Gulf of Georgia forced the Pacific Western Airlines' Norseman, piloted by W. Smith, to land at Victoria.

Neat Idea Given

PARKSVILLE—A suggestion from Parksville Grade 6 student Carolyn Ann Young is being favorably considered by the village commission.

She suggested that one way of keeping the village neat would be to install trash containers at suitable points in the business section.

Now the village commission has asked her for further suggestions as to where receptacles could be placed.

No Planner

Budget Barely Dented

NANAIMO — Surprise announcement at Monday's meeting of town planning commission was the fact the commission had spent only three per cent of its 1956 budget.

City council allocated $7,455 and only $265 was disbursed.

Explanation came from chairman Norval Wheatcroft. He said the commission had budgetted for a town planner who did not arrive.

HISTORIC REGION

Flanders in past centuries was the name for a territory that included all the present Belgium, with parts of Holland and France.

Thriving Ladysmith 'Good Place to Live'

NANAIMO—Chairman of the Ladysmith Chamber of Commerce, Steve Findlay, described Ladysmith as a city of many assets and a place worth living in. Addressing the Kiwanis Club here Tuesday, he said Ladysmith had the lowest tax rate in B.C.; that the city was completely in the black in so far as finances were concerned; that every road was hard-topped and had sidewalks; that a new $300,000 hospital paid for by the people was being opened shortly; it would own its own water system within two years; it had a good timber industry; and also boasted a flourishing $100,000 oyster industry.

Mr. Findlay said the city faced hard times when its main industry, coal, closed down, but the timber industry had more than made up for this.

He announced that the city had in mind a boat basin for this year, and is considering a children's playground as a centennial project.

Eleven Day Advance Ends At Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market reversed its trend, suddenly Wednesday in late afternoon trading following Sir Anthony Eden's resignation as British prime minister and closed with its first decline in 12 sessions.

El Sol gained four cents to 45 cents on sales of 1,030,500 shares.

Pipeline and refining oil issues led the industrials lower. Pembina Pipe Line lost 2⅝ points, Interprovincial Pipe Line 2¼ and Trans Mountain two.

International Nickel featured the declining senior base metals with a 2¼-point loss. Hudson Bay was off 1½ and Noranda a point.

Consolidated Denison added 1¼ points to a new high of 17 in morning trade but closed with an advance of ⅝.

Pipelines Drag

MONTREAL (CP) — Industrial stocks dipped a bit in the final minutes and closed mixed.

Base metals were mixed with Aluminium up a point and International Nickel down 1. McColl lost ½ while other refining oils tacked on minor fractions. Pipelines showed Trans Mountain ahead ½ with Interprovincial down 2 points.

International Paper advanced 1¾ but Consolidated, Abitibi and Powell River slipped major fractions. In steels Dosco gained ½ and Stelco eased ⅝. Constructions firmed in a ½-point range while banks showed little change.

Shawinigan and Calgary Power were ½-point winners in an irregularly better utilities section. Among miscellaneous Canadian Industries jumped 1¼ and Du Pont ¾.

U.S. Oils Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels, aircrafts and sugars rose while oils declined in Wednesday's irregular stock market.

The market was slightly higher most of the day. Late in the session, news of Prime Minister Eden's resignation brought a kind of creeping uncertainty although the news had been well anticipated.

Fort St. John Soars

VANCOUVER—Industrials were active and on average lower although there were strong spots in Crown Zellerbach at $22½ and CMS at $28½. Lower were MacMillan "B", Powell River, B.C. Forest, Lucky Lager and Inland Natural Gas.

Mines were below their best with Bralorne off 15 cents at 4.00, and Quatsino at 62 cents. Coppers drifted lower.

Strong feature of oils was Fort St. John which rose to a new high of 3.75 before closing at 3.35, for a 40-cent gain on the day. Other oils suffered through profit-taking.

London Hesitates

LONDON (Reuters) — A selective demand helped the London stock market though investors still showed a certain amount of hesitancy.

Buying of gilt-edged stocks in front of Thursday's bank rate decision brought gains up to ½.

Oldest active member of the Victoria Curling Club, Bill Hyde, right, looks at the Scottish version of the curling broom, used by J. Leadbetter. The Scottish curlers are well behind in the Strathcona Cup following their fourth-straight defeat here last night.

One of 26 touring curlers on a cross-Canada tour, W. A. McMasters demonstrates the use of the brush as he sweeps a rock towards the house. The visitors left for Vancouver last night and make their next appearance in Penticton.—(Colonist photos by Jim Ryan.)

Five rinks of Scottish curlers and officials of the Dominion Curling Association enjoyed every minute of their one-day stopover in Victoria yesterday although winning only two of five games in the Strathcona Cup competition. Shown above, left to right: Victoria committee chairman George Tucker; The Honorable Colin Campbell, in charge of the tour for DCA; Mayor Percy Scurrah; W. G. Piper, captain of the Scottish team; Jack Dutton, president of the DCA; Victoria club president Dr. Kirby Moysey, and Public Works Minister W. N. Chant.

Scots Lose to Island Rinks But Win Two of Five Games

Scotland's touring curlers, almost certain to leave for home at the end of the month without the Strathcona Cup they are defending, left Victoria reluctantly early this morning for the next stop on their whirlwind tour of Canadian curling centres.

Enjoying every moment of their visit although they have had only 17 hours of sleep since they left Scotland last Friday, the Scots paid high tribute to the hospitality of Vancouver Island curlers, the Victoria Curling Club and the ice on which they played.

They agreed that the ice they played on last night was the best they have seen so far and that the Victoria club was the finest they had been in.

BAD START

However, they lost for the fourth straight time although winning their first two games of the tour, during which they will play 20 matches of five games each.

The score was closer, 60-47, but the Scots now trail in the Strathcona Cup series, 281-147, after four matches and they still have many of Canada's best curlers to meet.

They are due for a "breakfast party" in Vancouver this morning, then fly to Penticton for their second, and last, appearance in B.C. Last night marked the first time they have played on the Pacific Coast in four previous trips to Canada.

From Penticton, the Scots will work their way to Moncton, leaving for home on Jan. 31. They had played matches in Montreal, Saskatoon and Edmonton before coming to Victoria.

CUP SEEMS GONE

Total points will decide the winner of the Strathcona Cup, put up for competition in 1909. Each country has won four times with Scotland the winner the last two times. Trailing by 134 points and with their schedule even more rugged from here, the Scots appear to have but a faint chance of retaining the trophy.

Games last night were close until the late ends as Island rinks had trouble coping with the draw game played by the Scots, and in two cases, couldn't quite cope with it.

However, three Island rinks pulled away to win handily while the visitors won one of their two games by the odd rock.

Closest game was between the Scottish rink skipped by team-captain W. G. Piper and the rink composed of the four honorary lifetime members of the Victoria Curling Club—Max Zabel, Gerry Lauder, Mark Trueman and Bill Hyde.

The Victoria rink had an early lead but the Scots kept sliding rocks into the rings and were three up coming home. They won by 11-10.

BIG ENDS

The other win scored by the visitors was against an up-Island rink composed of two curlers from the Nanaimo and Port Alberni Curling Clubs. Six on the seventh end swung the verdict for skip J. F. Waugh, 14-7, against Nanaimo's Bob Fuller.

However, at just about the same time, the Victoria rink, skipped by Gordie Robertson, was scoring a six-ender against A. M. Frame on the way to a 16-6 win. And Gar Taylor of Victoria was on his way to a 14-7 win over J. McWhirter and Ron Harper of Duncan wound up a 13-9 winner over W. S. Henderson.

In a sixth game, which didn't count in the trophy play, a Victoria rink skipped by Harold Hole bested a Scottish rink skipped by C. H. Bull, 15-6.

Rinks and scores, with Scottish curlers named first, follow:

W. G. Piper, W. W. McIntosh, Dr. J. McDougall, J. Leadbetter 11; Max Zabel, Gerry Lauder, Mark Trueman, Bill Hyde 10.

J. F. Waugh, W. D. Wilson, J. R. Alexander, W. A. Tod 14; Bob Fuller, Nanaimo, Warren Paul, Port Alberni, Bruce Blake, Port Alberni, John McLean, Nanaimo, 7.

A. M. Frame, W. Murray, J. C. Pinkerton, Murdo Fraser 6; Gordie Robertson, Bob McIntosh, Don Jamieson, Harry Croll 16.

J. McWhirter, F. Fred Surgat, J. K. Graham, W. A. McMaster 7; Gar Taylor, Kirby Moysey, George Tucker, Pete Lovric 14.

W. S. Henderson, R. H. Grierson, W. T. Bishop, J. Kurrat 9; Ron Harper, Duncan, Morley MacDonald, J.L. Cindi; W. Hobert, John Fye, Duncan, 13.

CARMEN BASILIO

Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio said Wednesday night he had injured his right hand in training and that he would have to postpone his scheduled January 18 title defence against Johnny Saxton at least five weeks. Basilio, who said "I want to be able to give everything when I fight—that's what the people want and expect," will visit the Cleveland commission with his co-managers today to ask for an official postponement.

Royals Tighten Hold on Third Place; Barkley's Goal Gives Stamps Victory

New Westminster Royals tightened their hold on third place in the Western Division of the Western Hockey League and moved three points ahead of the Victoria Cougars last night by downing the hapless Winnipeg Warriors, 6-4, at New Westminster.

In last night's other game, Calgary Stampeders gained a measure of revenge for a 6-5 overtime loss to Edmonton in the eastern division Tuesday night by upsetting the league-leaders, 1-0, at Calgary.

Warriors, playing the final game of a western road trip in which they picked up two points of a possible eight, were never in contention. Royals led 3-0 before the first period was 10 minutes old, then picked up three goals in the first 12 minutes of the final frame for a 6-1 lead.

TOO LATE

Warriors rallied for three goals, two by Dick Van Impe, but it was far too late to change the complexion of the game.

Gerry McNamara replaced Ed Johnston in the Winnipeg nets and handled 32 shots, the same number as Bev Bentley of the Royals.

New Westminster lost the services of right-winger Blinky Boyce in the final period following a collision with Noel Price, who drew all three of Winnipeg's penalties. Boyce skated off after treatment but did not return to the game.

Aldo Goodwin and Gordie Fashoway each scored twice, while Dick Roberge and Arnie Schmautz got the other New Westminster goals. Skip Burchell and George Ford each scored once for the Warriors.

BASSEN GOOD

At Calgary, Hank Bassen scored his second successive shutout on home ice, stopping 31 shots. In Stamps' last home appearance Bassen shut out the Royals, 6-0.

Stamps won it at the 1.02 mark of the second period on a goal by defenceman Doug Barkley.

Barkley took a pass from Ray Barry and backhanded a sizzler past Dennis Riggin. The Edmonton netminder also turned in a steady performance, blocking 23 shots.

Flyers came close on numerous occasions in the final period, but Bassen was superb in stopping the threat. Late in the session he outguessed Don Poile when he fired a shot at point-blank range.

Tabori Doesn't Like Southern Hospitality

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Dissatisfied with Southern accommodations, Laszlo Tabori, the Hungarian mile runner, and his coach, Mihali Igloi, took a plane for New York Wednesday.

Tabori didn't like his hotel room, his meals at the University of Miami, or his training facilities, all of which were provided without charge.

"Here in Miami," he said through an interpreter, "people can't afford to give me place like I'm use to."

Under Communism, he said, he and other star athletes were given "the best of everything" and he can't understand why America doesn't provide the same red carpet treatment.

The remainder of the Hungarian team left earlier but Tabori had remained behind to train for his coming tour of the U.S.

Rangers Drop to Fifth As Leafs Rally to Win

Phil Watson, fiery coach of the New York Rangers, who is seldom at a loss for words, was forced to withdraw some of his pre-season comments on the Toronto Maple Leafs last night as the Leafs edged the Rangers, 4-3, at New York to take over fourth place in the National Hockey League.

Watson had nothing but contempt for Toronto's pre-season slogan of "rock and roll with Howie Meeker and his crewcuts," and commented that "they'll roll all right, every time we rock them. There isn't a doubt in my mind that we're a better club than the Leafs and everyone will know it at the end of the schedule."

However, it was the Leafs who did the rocking last night, coming from behind three times with a hard-hitting brand of hockey while the 10,205 Ranger fans booed and jeered their own club.

Rangers, who trail Leafs by two points in the battle for the fourth and final playoff spot, got away to a bad start on a rugged schedule that sees them play four games in five nights—three away from home. In addition, Leafs hold a game in hand.

DICK DUFF
... fires winner

Dick Duff scored the winner last night, picking up a drop pass from George Armstrong and beating Gump Worsley with a blazing 10-footer at 10.40 of the final period. Bob Pulford tied the count at 7.13 of the final frame after Larry Popein put Rangers ahead for a third time with a goal late in the second period.

Ted Kennedy, former Maple Leaf star appearing in the second game of a three-game "produce or else" comeback, flashed some of his old form and set up two goals including Pulford's tying goal.

League Games Sunday

Scots Test Hotelmen In Cup Soccer Semis

Gorge Hotel, which has rolled to seven straight victories in the Victoria and District Football League, will meet Canadian Scottish Saturday afternoon at Royal Athletic Park in the semi-finals of the annual Jackson Cup competition for the Vancouver Island championship.

Two league games are scheduled for Sunday afternoon. Punjab United takes on Heaneys at Heywood Avenue Park while Butler Brothers and Tillicums clash at Central Park.

All games start at 2.

Play in the Province Cup competition for the B.C. championship will begin as soon as the winner of the Jackson Cup is decided. All eight Victoria and District Football League teams have entered.

Deciding Game Set Wednesday

Oak Bay and Victoria High School's senior soccer teams will play the off-postponed third and final game of their Colonist Cup inter-high school championship series Wednesday afternoon at 3 on the Victoria High pitch, it was announced last night.

Oak Bay won the first game, 2-1, on the strength of brilliant goaltending by Bernie Johnston, but the defending champion Victoria High squad evened the series with a 4-2 victory.

Senators Boost Lead By Drubbing Maroons

HOW THEY STAND

	GP	W	L	T	GF	GA	Pts
Senators	11	9	1	1	58	32	19
Capitals	11	7	3	1	61	49	15
Bruins	11	3	6	2	45	52	8
Maroons	11	1	10	0	28	60	2

Last night's score: Senators 6, Maroons 3.

League-leading Senators won their ninth game in 11 starts in the bantam division of the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association last night, downing Maroons, 6-3, at Memorial Arena.

Maroons pulled to within a single goal at 4-3 early in the third period after trailing, 4-1, at one stage of the game, but the powerful Senators whipped in two quick goals late in the final period to wrap up the decision.

Don Bule scored three goals for Senators while John Paul, Barry Slocum and Barry Forbes collected one apiece. Doug Skinner, with two goals, and Phil Wade handled the scoring for Maroons.

In a bantam game Tuesday, Mike Woodley scored four goals and Ernie Yakamovitch got the other two as Capitals beat Royals, 6-4.

Meet Totems Friday

Oldtimers Try Once More

Victoria High School's all-time basketball greats will make their last appearance as a team at the Fernwood gym Friday night when they meet the 1955-56 edition of the Victoria High Totems in their 10th annual hoop exhibition.

Such outstanding former stars as Chuck Chapman, Ollie Goldsmith, Porky Andrews, Ian McKeachie, Busher Jackson, Doug Peden and Red Martin will try, in their farewell appearance, to prove once again, that experience can conquer youth and speed.

For the first seven years of the annual event they did just that, always coming up with one more trick when needed to beat the Totems. However, in 1954-55 the Totems finally broke through to win, and last year they trounced the Oldtimers, 79-61, in what the former greats pledged was their final court appearance.

Game time Friday is 8.30 p.m.

Rocket Hustles Like Rookie; Moves Up in Scoring Battle

Ageless Maurice (Rocket) Richard may not reach the 500-goal mark this season but at 35, hockey's all-time greatest scorer is hustling like a rookie.

Official National Hockey League statistics show the Rocket has picked up three goals and an assist in four games to move into a tie for sixth place in the point chase. His 15 goals and 17 assists gives him a total of 32 points, the same as Boston right-winger Jerry Toppazzini.

Richard, who coach Toe Blake says is giving the youngsters on the Montreal Canadiens a lesson in hustle this season, has stretched his lifetime goal scoring record during regular season play to 475.

However, the fiery Rocket, who missed seven games because of an elbow operation, is far off the sizzling pace being set by teammate Jean Beliveau who leads the league with 56 points.

PADS LEAD

Beliveau has also scored three goals and one assist in four games to increase his lead over Detroit's Gordie Howe to eight points. Beliveau, who has led the league since the early weeks, had 22 goals and 34 assists.

Slender Glen Hall, Detroit's brilliant sophomore goaltender, gave the finest performance of the season last week with a near airtight defence, allowing only two goals in four games, to move within five points of Montreal netminder Jacques Plante and boost his "fielding average" to .933.

Scoring leaders and goalkeeper averages follow:

Figures don't lie, and 19-year-old Johnny Dunnick holds the scoresheet that proves he has just rolled what is believed to be the highest three-game tenpin series ever bowled in Victoria. Practising for the city championships, Dunnick rolled games of 248, 289 and 235 for a 772 triple Tuesday at Gibson's Bowladrome.—(Colonist photo by Ted Harris.)

Speaking Briefly

Giants Lose Persuasion Battle

New York Giants, who obtained Jackie Robinson from the Brooklyn Dodgers last month to fill a vacancy at first base and also to provide a solid gate attraction, have apparently failed in a final attempt to persuade the great infielder to "stay in baseball one more year."

Giant vice-president Charles Feeney dined with Robinson and his wife Wednesday night and [illegible] year contract calling for a reported $50,000 plus "other considerations" in an effort to change Robbie's mind about quitting baseball.

However, the 38-year-old Robinson, who insisted last weekend that he had retired from baseball "for good," indicated there was little chance of his playing for the Giants next season. "I think I convinced him (Feeney) that I won't be playing," Robinson said.

"I don't believe I can do the Giants any good. I didn't give him a definite answer, but in my own mind I know how I feel." Robinson added that he would give Feeney a definite answer within the next few days.

Robinson earned about $33,000 as a Dodger last season and is reported to have signed a two-year contract calling for about $30,000 as an executive with a restaurant chain.

"UTTERLY RIDICULOUS": Coach Bud Poile of the Edmonton Flyers branded as "utterly ridiculous" charges by Frank Boucher, general manager of the Brandon Regals, blaming Poile for "dirty hockey" by the Flyers. "I can hardly make myself believe that during Mr. Boucher's many years of coaching and managing hockey teams his team has not been involved in the odd brawl" . . . Czechoslovakia, Canada and East Germany have withdrawn their entries from the International women's ski races, leaving only nine countries who have entered athletes . . . Emil Zatopek, star Czech runner who won three gold medals in the 1952 Olympics, and Chris Brasher of Britain, winner of the 1956 Olympic 3,000-metre steeplechase, both announced their retirement from active track competition Wednesday . . . Carla Marchelli of Italy won the giant slalom race in the Swiss women's ski championships Wednesday.

* * *

DOUBTFUL STARTER: Jean Beliveau of Montreal, the National Hockey League's leading scorer, is a doubtful starter against Toronto tonight because of a painful hip injury and it appears doubtful whether he will play in two crucial weekend games against Boston . . . Paul Hornung, Notre Dame's star quarterback, has signed a contract to play professional football with Green Bay Packers after turning down an offer to play with B.C. Lions . . . Quarterback Tom Dublinski of Toronto Argonauts has agreed to talk things over again with Detroit Lions, who have been trying to woo him away from the Argonauts for the last two years . . . Cecil Ross has been elected president of the Edmonton Eskimo Football Club, succeeding M. I. (Moe) Lieberman . . . Newly crowned middleweight champion Gene Fullmer has been offered a $7,500 guarantee to meet Wilf Greaves, former Edmonton belter, in a 10-round non-title bout at Pittsburgh Feb. 28 . . . Pete Elliot, now coaching at Nebraska, is reported to be "high on the list" of prospects for the head football coaching job at University of Washington.

* * *

BASEBALL BITS: Chicago White Sox have offered Detroit Tigers $250,000 in cash or players for outfielder Al Kaline but the Tigers don't want to sell their young holdout at any price . . . Carl Furillo and Duke Snider have signed their 1957 Brooklyn contracts, Snider for an estimated $41,000 . . . Milwaukee Braves have signed catcher Carl Sawatski from Toronto Maple Leafs, Los Angeles Angels have obtained pitcher Bill Tremel from the Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Seals have picked up first baseman Frank Kellert, a former Chicago Cub player . . . Vancouver Mounties, who have reached the $110,000 mark in their campaign for the $225,000 necessary to start the 1957 Coast Baseball League season, have appointed Bill Saylse as assistant general manager.

FA Cup Holders Edged; Non-League Club Wins

Manchester City, defending champion in the English Football Association Cup competition, was knocked out of the running Wednesday when it dropped a 5-4 overtime decision to first division Newcastle in a third-round replay.

The Manchester club, which ranks below Newcastle in the standings, held a 3-0 lead at half-time but Newcastle, three times winner of the trophy in the last five years, battled back to tie and outscored Manchester 2-1 in overtime.

Peterborough United joined Rhyl and New Brighton as non-league representatives in the fourth round by upsetting Lincoln of the third division, 5-4, in overtime.

In other third-round replays, West Bromwich blanked Doncaster, 2-0; Newport edged Southampton, 1-0; Birmingham City blanked Carlisle, 4-0; Reading lost to Wrexham, 2-1, and Sheffield Wednesday and Preston North End played to a 2-2 overtime tie.

Meanwhile, it appeared almost certain Wednesday that former England centre forward Tommy Lawton would take over managing his old club, Notts County, before the end of the week.

The 37-year-old Lawton, player-manager of non-league Kettering, met with County officials Wednesday to discuss contract terms and said he would be "delighted to go" to Notts County.

Notts County, in last place in the second division, fired manager George Poyser and trainer Vic Potts Tuesday.

'Prescribed Drugs Can Kill'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A dental expert says some types of medicine in common use today are causing serious mouth trouble and can prove fatal.

Dr. E. V. Zegarelli, Columbia University professor of dentistry, said here that 50 to 75 per cent of allergic reactions in the mouth are caused by antibiotics and barbiturates.

Only a few allergies are attributed to toothpastes, fillings and similar substances.

"We expect in future more and more diseases of the mouth to have an allergy background because of widened use of antibiotics (used to combat infection) and sleeping drugs (barbiturates)," he said.

"In some instances reaction in the mouth may be fatal." This would come from resulting disturbances in the blood.

Jean Maury, French cardinal and orator who died in 1817, was noted for his lively wit.

GRAHAM W. NILES

Veteran of the Second World War, Graham W. Niles, 31, of 1449 Brooke Street, will leave the city shortly to report to the RCAF station at London, Ont., with the rank of flying officer, to make the regular air force his career. He is a trained fighter-controller with 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning (Auxiliary) Squadron, RCAF, and will be taking a nine-week administration course at London followed by advanced training as a fighter-controller in Florida.

Car Changes Stolen Hands

Somebody's stolen the stolen car!

Does anyone know where this Model A is now? From New Year's Day until Monday evening of this week it stood in front of The Daily Colonist building on Douglas. Then it vanished—after collecting a few overtime parking tickets.

A check by city police disclosed it had been sold by a James Bay man to another Victorian, but that transfer of ownership had not been registered.

Just before Christmas the new owner had run out of gas while driving on Southgate, and had left the car where it stood. When he returned, it had vanished.

Since he was going to Vancouver to a new job, he thought to himself: "Well, if someone wants it badly enough to take it like that, they can have it"—and he went to the mainland.

Police, trying to get it moved, came up with William Heward, of 2518 Estevan, who knew the car since the purchaser was a friend. When he went to move it from Douglas, it had gone again.

So—if you're driving this old car around, look out! It's registered with police as stolen.

Missionaries Set Meetings

Col. and Mrs. H. R. Pennick of London, England, will begin a series of five public missionary meetings here.

The first meeting will be at Esquimalt Salvation Army Citadel, 1245 Esquimalt Road, at 8 p.m. today. The other four will be held in the Victoria Citadel, 757 Pandora, Friday to Monday, at 8 p.m.

Col. Pennick is general secretary of the International Salvation Army Training College in London and has served in Japan and Latvia as a missionary.

Beat winter-stalling the new way!

Ever back out on a cold wet day and have the engine stall while you close the garage doors . . . then stall again at the first stop sign?

If so, you're painfully familiar with carburetor icing . . . where vaporizing gasoline cools the carburetor metal, transforming moist air into tiny ice crystals around the throttle valve. This shuts off the gasoline and air supply to your engine.

Now, Chevron Gasolines contain a revolutionary new additive to eliminate those ice crystals. Recently developed by one of North America's largest research laboratories . . . and available for the first time in Western Canada in Chevron Gasolines . . . DMF (Dimethyl Formamide) has been proven by exhaustive tests to be seventeen times more effective, in equal concentrations, than any other de-icer tested.

Eric Martin Reports:

Ottawa 'Stalling' On Health Plan

By PETER BRUTON

Federal government "stalling" on the introduction of a national health care plan was strongly criticized yesterday by Health Minister Eric Martin.

For a start the plan would provide for hospital insurance services on an acute illness basis together with diagnostic out patient services as well as a chronic care program at present being planned for B.C.

We have done all we can to bring this about and the ball is up to Ottawa, said Mr. Martin. However, the way things look now, the federal government will continue to stall on this very pressing and vital matter.

B.C. was the first province to declare it was ready, willing and able to move on immediately upon the government's part in providing its share of people in this province.

Mayor Still Under Fire

Curtis Replaces Smith As Licence Chairman

'Trouble Not 1919 Law —But 1919 Thinking'

By R. O. MARRION

Still under attack from Ald. J. Donald Smith because of his opposition to immediate approval of a business tax, Mayor Percy Scurrah yesterday named Ald. Austin Curtis to take Ald. Smith's place as chairman of the special trades-licence committee.

Ald. Smith resigned as chairman and member of the committee Tuesday night because council referred his one-man report, recommending institution of a business tax, back to the committee. This action, he asserted, doomed any change in the city taxation system for this year.

[illegible]

CHANGES IN ACT

[illegible]

"A new committee," Ald. Smith said, "can only again point out the one principle involved—those who should pay, must pay.

"You accept a proposal before you get married," he said. "We are just not accepting a pig in a poke," said Mayor Scurrah.

Suspects Flown Back

By ERITH M. SMITH

Leonard Wilson, 29, construction worker and welder from Duncan, was flown back to Victoria from Seattle yesterday to face charges in connection with Monday's noon-hour holdup of the Royal Bank of Canada, Cormorant and Douglas.

Returned with him was Valerie Celine Helen Jessaman, an attractive redhead, also from Duncan who appears slightly older than her 18 years.

'Call Arena Spade A Spade'—Edgelow

[illegible]

Chairman of Greater Victoria's centennial celebrations committee, Ald. Edgelow commended the suggestion of arena manager Joe Dukowski that an addition to the arena should be built as a centennial project to relieve a "serious shortage" of ice in Victoria.

But he said these were [illegible] centennial project it considers [illegible]

OUT OF ORDINARY

[illegible]

Apart from any connection with the centenary, Ald. Edgelow said, "It is high time the outside municipalities started to recognize the city's problem that their children are using an arena built with the city's money, and on which the city still owes plenty."

The arena he said was being used by all greater Victoria and [illegible] "[illegible] the city [illegible] parties would somehow reduce [illegible] had a problem them [illegible] "It's time we called a spade a spade."

Sandwich Fillings Give Lunch Variety

While this is primarily a food column I see no reason WHY you and I should not deviate from it once in a while. For instance, the answers to my SOS as to what to do with Christmas cards has been fantastic. It seems everybody wants to know where to send them. Well, a certain Mrs Jenks came up with a good idea. She gave me this address: Bright Ralph Saunders Box 888 . . . Revival Centre Seattle, Washington. Apparently, although for one of their faith they have the necessary office setup to handle thousands of cards and I am sure they send them out all over the world. So get going everybody.

Now, back to food. I keep on thinking about and watching these youngsters on their way back to school. Some of them, no doubt, take a lunch with them. So here are some suggestions for sandwich fillings which will keep that little girl or boy of yours (and maybe a husband) satisfied at the noon hour.

SAVORY LIVER SANDWICH SPREAD

Half pound liver, pork or beef, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups boiling water, 6 slices cooked bacon, ¼ cup sour cream, 2 tablespoons prepared mustard, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, salt and pepper to taste. Simmer liver with the salt for about thirty minutes until tender. Drain and cool. Put liver through meat chopper with cooked bacon. Add remaining ingredients. Store in covered jar till needed.

Have you ever thought of cutting lunch-box sandwiches in fancy shapes with cookie cutters just to make them look different? But back to more fillings . . . .

CHEESE-MEAT SANDWICH SPREAD

One cup grated Cheddar cheese; 1 cup ground cooked meat, ¼ cup finely chopped pickle, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 2 tablespoons cucumber about: mayonnaise, seasoning of your own choice. Combine all ingredients in order given. Store in refrigerator till needed.

SARDINE FILLING

One cup mashed sardines, ½ cup chopped stuffed olives, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, cream or mayonnaise to moisten. Combine all ingredients and spread between buttered slices of whole wheat bread.

And heres a sandwich filling which might well be made in advance and be kept for several days . . .

DEVILLED CHEESE FILLING

Half pound of cheese grated or mashed, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons ketchup, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, ½ cup finely chopped crisp bacon, ½ cup finely chopped pickle, salt and pepper to taste. Combine all ingredients in order given and when needed, spread between buttered slices of brown bread.

And heres a suggestion for the lady young and old, for those little darlings who delight in saying they are five when they know they are only four . . . they'll earn not to add a year to their age once these days.

PEANUT BUTTER AND APPLE SPREAD

Half cup peanut butter; 2 tablespoons salad dressing, ¼ cup chopped raw apple. Mix peanut butter with salad dressing to a smooth consistency. Add chopped apple, very finely chopped pickle. Wh[illegible] peanut butter sandwiches. Make the lunching lunches this one will be popular.

TRICK OF THE DAY

I think this is really clever — it comes from Mrs. Y. M. in Duncan. Put a little mound of flour in the pan along with the roast and do not disturb until the roast is done. The flour browns and can be mixed in the gravy to make it a [illegible] dark brown.

FASHION PRINCIPLE AND PRACTICE To put together a confident ensemble with exciting clothes is a lively fashion fact in practice if you remember it consistently . . . as well as elaborate tiaras on teens and fitting butterflies on mature heads.

A hair ornament must complement the wearer or its fashionability is lost. Thus fine tortoise boxes, porcelain and silver jewelled fans are best suited to the famous more outside designs are adapted to sophisticated or distinguished heads. In outside the book of wearing this or any other fashion brilliantly, is adapting it to yourself.

Treason Trial 'Instituted' To Stifle Ideas'

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters) — A defence lawyer said Wednesday South Africa's mass treason trial was instituted to stifle ideas of freedom and brotherhood.

[illegible]

Child's Death Accidental

A coroner's jury found yesterday that the death of three-year-old Michelle Elliott, who succumbed to injuries received in a collision with a car on Glanford Thursday, was accidental.

The jury attached to its verdict a recommendation that brush on Glanford near its intersection with Baker be cut down.

Michelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Baker, died six days after being in collision with a car driven by Mark R. Knisely, 869 Parklands.

Mr. Knisely, testifying yesterday under protection of the Canada Evidence Act, said that he had been driving south on Glanford at 30 miles an hour and had taken his foot off the accelerator and put it on the brake when he approached a group of children on the corner of Baker about 140 feet ahead.

When he had travelled 50 or 60 feet farther he said a child dashed from the left side of the road toward the right, where the group was. "She was moving terrifically fast, with her head down and bent forward."

He applied the brakes "immediately," he said. The girl "seemed to hit the left front fender. I felt as the car stopped."

Mr. Knisely said [illegible] the left side of the road had obscured his view.

How to Reduce Swollen, Painful Piles

Relieve Itching, Soreness and Pain without ointments, pile pipes or suppositories

Here is a nice, clean, easy way to shrink or reduce swollen, painful piles without the inconvenience of ointments, pile pipes or suppositories.

The secret is in taking just one small Hem Rod tablet with water, two or three times a day. By reducing INTERNAL action this mild but gently persistent medicine eases constipation, helps break up and smoothly pass off hardened intestinal waste, relieves irritating soreness and pain, helps shrink piles and permits them to heal. Hem Rod is so easy to use, so pleasant and satisfying in giving immediate results hundreds have written to thank us for making it. [illegible]

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther

Cartoonist Al Capp is about to make the plunge into television.

The creator of "Li'l Abner" whose popular comic strip on The Daily Colonist now is on Broadway, was over in England a while back and met a chap named Colin Small, who has a new animation technique.

The long and short of it is that Capp is doing the script and art work for a five-minute cartoon series to appear in the fall. Details are secret for the time being.

Capp will be at Page Four of Macy Cavell and the people on an early Ed Sullivan show on coast stages. Odyssey next week will listen to and through the New Orleans blues.

In future the new CBS Sunday show will also look at Sherlock Homes, Jamaican voodoo, Japanese swords, mich wurel trials and sunken Spanish galleons — quite a line-up!

This ultra modern five-room bungalow, seven years old, is for a buyer who knows value. The 17x14 living room with fireplace has French doors leading into a guest-size dining room. The electric cabinet kitchen with nook is well planned. Both bedrooms are large with ample cupboards. The four-piece tiled bathroom is lovely. All floors are first-grade oak. The high daylight basement has a panelled heated room, suitable for playroom or TV. The Crane hot-water system is automatic and economical, also electric domestic hot water and laundry. Steps lead from the basement to the two-car attached garage. The property consists of two fully landscaped lots with lawn-sprinkler system. A breakdown of values indicates at today's prices an excess of $3,000 over the sale price of $15,800

Flood Gates Not Answer Says Engineer

SIDNEY — Sidney village commission has been informed by the department of highways that changes to floodgates at the south end of Fifth Street, promised last spring, will not be made.

A new engineer in charge of this work apparently does not agree with the conclusions of his predecessor that faulty gates are the cause of flooding in the area.

Donald Sparling, chairman of the Sidney planning commission, Monday night made his annual report to the Sidney village commission.

During 1956, the planning commission had recommended purchase and development of two acres of land at the corner of Beacon Avenue and Seventh Street as a site for the village office; studied possible development of a waterfront park from First Street south along Lochside Road, and recommended that the village urge the provincial parks department to take action; and helped in negotiations between the village commission and Veterans' Land Act officials regarding inclusion of 65 acres of VLA property in the village.

Terms of Mr. Sparling, W. J. Skinner and G. A. Gardner, all village appointees on the planning commission, have expired.

Mr. Sparling asked that new members be appointed for one, two and three years, as required by the Town Planning Act.

Two members of the village commission, and one from Saanich District 63 school board, make up the remainder of the six-man planning commission.

Sidney village commission Monday night voted $100, with its thanks, to members of the Sidney and North Saanich volunteer fire department.

Every Thursday night during the year the firemen inspect the village street lighting system, replacing faulty globes and making repairs.

Sidney village commissioner Mrs. Vivian Cowan has asked to be relieved of her post as chairman of the village centennial committee.

"This committee is developing to the point where it will take time that I should be devoting to village affairs," Mrs. Cowan said.

"It is a big, important job, and should be given to a retired person with the time to devote to it."

The village commission agreed to consider the appointment of a successor.

Labor To Work On Brief

Executive of the newly-formed B.C. Federation of Labor, representing 100,000 workers in the province, meets in the Empress Hotel Sunday and Monday to prepare a brief for submission to the provincial cabinet at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

In previous years the B.C. Trade Union Congress and the old CCL B.C. Federation of Labor, amalgamated into the new federation in November, submitted separate briefs to the cabinet.

The new federation expects its brief on labor's demands in the way of legislation to carry more weight with the cabinet.

Municipal Act To Remain Under Wraps

Opposition members will not have a chance to study the bulky revised new Municipal Act before it is presented on the floor of the Legislature, Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black said yesterday.

Opposition leader Robert Strachan had urged the government to release the proposed act ahead of time so that members could intelligently study it. The act contains more than 900 sections.

"Despite what I might like to do, in the first place I have a constitutional responsibility—and that is to introduce the act firstly in the House," said Mr. Black.

"Secondly, it would not be in the realm of physical possibility to release it in advance," he added. "The draft is not expected to be ready until the Legislature has opened."

Exercises

Warships To Sail For South

Four ships of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron, RCN, will leave Esquimalt harbor at 9 a.m. Jan. 22 for a six-week training cruise in California waters.

They will engage in joint exercises with units of the United States Navy.

The ships are HMCS Crescent (Capt. Paul D. Taylor, commanding officer and senior officer of the squadron), HMCS Sioux (Capt. R. W. Murdoch), HMCS Athabaskan (Cmdr. P. S. Booth), and HMCS Cayuga Cmdr. P. C. Benson).

The vessels are scheduled to arrive at Long Beach, Calif., Jan. 25. The destroyer Sioux will leave the Long Beach area Feb. 4 to return to Esquimalt by Feb. 7.

The other three ships will visit San Francisco Feb. 9 to 13, and then continue exercises in the San Diego area Feb. 14 to March 3. They will return to Esquimalt March 7.

Sea Science Conference Opens Jan. 18

Oceanographers from Seattle, Vancouver and Nanaimo will meet here Jan. 18 and 19 for the annual informal conference of Pacific Northwest oceanographers.

Hosts this year are scientists from Pacific Naval Laboratory, under Dr. W. Ford. Last year's conference was held at the University of Washington.

Dr. J. P. Tully, in charge of Pacific Oceanographic Group at Nanaimo, will head a group of six from there, and Dr. Richard Fleming, director of the department of oceanography at the University of Washington, will bring a group of faculty members and students.

Representatives from UBC will include Dr. W. A. Clemens, director of the Institute of Oceanography, and faculty and students.

Theme of the talks this year will be "The Time Series in Oceanographic Observations."

LONDON (Reuters) — London businessmen Wednesday urged the government to set up a propaganda organization "to inform the world" of Britain's achievements and to counter anti-British propaganda.

Centennial Projects To Be Chosen Soon

Final selection of community projects in connection with the 1958 B.C. Centennial celebrations will be made in the next month or so, officials said yesterday.

Government per capita grants will be paid promptly and work should soon be started.

Suggested projects range from new hospital wings to memorial parks.

British Columbia's big birthday parties will take place in all sections of the province next year and spokesmen said yesterday that nearly every man, woman and child in the province will be participating directly or indirectly in some centennial activity by the end of the year.

"The awareness of the public of the province's achievements in the last 100 years is expected to be expressed in many varied and unique ways and cannot help but insure the success of B.C.'s biggest birthday party," centennial committee chairman L. J. Wallace said yesterday.

Patient Slays Doctor, Self

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A patient twice emptied a .38-calibre revolver Tuesday in a prominent Pittsburgh physician's office, killing the doctor and himself before a horrified nurse, two other patients and a child.

Three bullets from the blazing gun cut down Dr. Fabian M. Mihelic, 44. Police found him dead in his blood splattered office.

Woo Bing, 44, died on the way to hospital.

Winter Grips Maritimes

HALIFAX (CP) — Winter held the Maritimes in a paralyzing grip Tuesday night. Northerly gales sent temperatures tumbling as the coastal provinces struggled to reopen highways and communication lines after the season's worst blizzard.
